Introduction:

Procedural and Interventional Pulmonology has achieved new heights in the last few decades. Though much learning has focused on mastery of regular techniques, there are a few complex conditions in the field of Pulmonology which require focused assessment and management. Few forums exist to comprehensively understand and guide management of these complex conditions.

Details:

In line with the above, we started focused training courses (didactics and workshops) on such complex topics after COVID in 2022. Continuing the trend, we have organized a dedicated lecture series followed by workshop on two challenging conditions encountered i.e. Persistent air leak (PAL) (Commonly known as Bronchopleural fistula – BPF) and Airway foreign body (FB) – a First of its kind.

A team of national and international experts (Pulmonologists, Radiologists, Surgeons and more) will enlighten the audience on focused well-thought topics. The didactics and case discussions help to dissect these issues end-to-end, followed by a workshop to cement the concepts.

Objectives: Understand the following:

- PAL/BPF: Pathophysiology, Challenges and Management
- FB: Diagnosis, Management and Sequelae

Who Should attend ?

Pulmonologists / Thoracic surgeons / ENT surgeons / Intensivists
